

Navtech Announces New Contract With Delta Air Lines

Waterloo, Ontario, March 29, 2005 - Navtech, Inc. (OTCBB: NAVH), a leading international provider of aviation software, announced today that it has signed a long-term contract with Delta Air Lines to provide crew management solutions. The agreement includes the use of CLASS™, Navtech's preferential bidding system, by pilots at Delta Air Lines.

"This achievement further validates our ability to realize significant growth from our crew management software products," said Derek Dawson, Navtech's Vice President, Sales and Business Development, "the response from the market continues to be outstanding."

CLASS™ allows the user to match available flying to an individual crew member's preferences in order to produce and optimize a final crew schedule that respects contractual constraints and company operating requirements.
